

Adler, Aleksandra. 2023. Cognitive load in dialogue interpreting: Experience and directionality. Dissertations in Translation and Interpreting Studies 4. PhD Diss. Stockholm: Stockholm University

Errata

Page and line number	is	should be
57, line 24	by IQ tests and is significantly lower in the resting baseline.	by IQ tests and is significantly higher in the resting baseline.
67, lines 1–6	Section 3.4.1	Section 3.3.1
	section 3.4.2	section 3.3.2
	section 3.4.3	section 3.3.3
	section 3.5	section 3.4
81 (figure 12 caption)	the gray area	the dashed lines
82 (figure 14 caption)	the gray area	the dashed lines
109, line 11	Prolongations occurred in both L1 and L2 utterances	Prolongations occurred in both L1 and L2 utterances.
115, line 15	the penultimate section 5.4.	section 5.4
138, line 12	både tolkerfarenhet och på språkriktning är orsaker	både tolkerfarenhet och språkriktning är orsaker

The list over publications in the dissertation series is missing and should be inserted after the appendices on page 187:

Dissertations in Translation and Interpreting Studies

Published by Stockholm University

Editor: Yvonne Lindqvist

1. Elin Svahn, The Dynamics of Extratextual Translatorship in Contemporary Sweden. A Mixed Methods Approach (Det extratextuella översättarskapets dynamik i det samtida Sverige. En mixed methods-studie) 2020. 310 pp. Swedish Summary.
2. Elisabeth Geiger Poignant, Tolkade publika författarsamtal. Berättande och triadisk interaktion över språkgränser (Interpreted Public Literary Conversations. Storytelling and Triadic Interaction Across Language Boundaries) 2020. 194 pp. English Summary.
3. Raphael Sannholm, Translation, Teamwork, and Technology. The Use of Social and Material Scaffolds in the Translation Process (Översättning, teamwork och teknik. Sociala och materiella stöd i översättningsprocessen) 2021. 181 pp. Swedish Summary.
4. Aleksandra Adler, Cognitive load in dialogue interpreting: Experience and directionality (Kognitiv belastning i dialogtolkning: tolkerfarenhet och språkriktning) 2023. 187 pp. Swedish Summary.